

- What's the most meaningful and satisfying project you have been involved in, applying data science principles and practices, and why was it so exciting and fulfilling?